Deer season opens with herd population down

By Terry Wright

Indications from the opening day of the 1993 rifle deer hunting season point to the fact that the Michigan deer herd population is on the decline.

At the annual "Orange Coat Roundup," deer hunter's contest, sponsored by Skip's Sport Shop in Grayling, most hunters agreed with Gail Madsen, "Hunters are down, and deer are definitely down. We've had two winter kills in a row, and I think bowhunters are killing a lot of young bucks," Madsen said.

Madsen explained that the popularity of bowhunting has grown substantially in recent years. She said today there are 250,000 bowhunters in the woods hunting an elongated season beginning October 1, and lasting until the end of the year. "The sheriff department reports that car/deer accidents are down by about 70% this year. That means there are less deer."

Skip Madsen said, "I think there are deer everywhere, and I think they're down in numbers everywhere."

Weather conditions were not ideal for the hunt. Instead of the desired few inches of dry tracking snow, hunters awoke opening morning to a light dusting of snow which warmer temperatures soon turned to slush, fog, and generally cold, damp conditions.

By 1:30 p.m. on opening day, there had been only 18 bucks hung on the buckpole. "What's unusual this year," Gail said, "is that of the first seventeen bucks on the pole, 14 of them were killed by local people."

Tim VanNuck of Grayling, was the first successful hunter at the pole. He brought in a spikehorn at 8:45 a.m. The second hunter in was Larry Pratt, also of Grayling, who bagged a six-point.

The first female to bring in her buck was Deanna Miller of Grayling, who shot a five-point buck and was back at the buckpole by shortly after 9 a.m.

Of the first 18 bucks hung on the pole, all were trophies, but none were monsters. The largest was an eight-pointer that weighed in at 150 pounds. Gail Madsen said, "It's unusual that we don't have a big buck yet."

The eight-point, 150 pounder, was taken by Jim Uzarski in Otsego County. He shot his buck at 6:55 on opening morning. "I had just gotten into my blind when my buck and a doe came in. As soon as I could see it was a buck, I shot it. It was only about 25 feet away."

Uzarski said even though he was hunting on state land, he saw no other hunters. "There are a lot less hunters this year," he said. "There are a lot less deer too. Even in bow season I didn't see many deer but the ones I did see are healthy and fat."

Greg Thompson of Grayling, hunted the first morning on private property near Wakeley Bridge Road and M-72, and reported seeing nothing. "I had to come to the buckpole to see my first deer," he said.

Hunters in northern Michigan spend millions of dollars annually supporting themselves and their sport. They are a vital part of the northern tourist based economy, and along with the Christmas shopping season provide the income for many businesses to survive through long winter months of economic blight.

Carl Kraft of the North Country Lodge in Grayling said he rented more rooms to hunters this year than in recent years but says they are not staying as long. "It used to be that groups of hunters would come up from the cities and stay for a week. Anymore they're only staying one or two nights, and they're seldom in groups."

The annual Michigan deer hunt begins every year on the 15th of November and lasts through November 30th. This year, November 15, fell on a Monday. Business is always down in northern Michigan, as are the number of hunters, when opening day doesn't fall on a weekend.

Judge orders Marsack to stand trial for July murder

By Terry Wright

Richard Peter Marsack was bound over to Circuit Court last week, to stand trial before a jury of his peers. He is charged with the ambush murder of Grayling DNR employee Terry Barr. On November 9, Crawford County Prosecuting Attorney John Huss and defense attorney Richard Zipser presented their closing arguments at Marsack's preliminary examination.

Thereafter, 83rd District Court Judge Francis Walsh determined that the evidence was sufficient to demand that the case go to trial.

Marsack, 43, of Gaylord, has been accused of ambushing and shooting Barr on the morning of July 13, 1993, as Barr drove Wilcox Bridge Road on his way to work at the Grayling Department of Natural Resources office. Barr apparently stopped his vehicle to remove a downed tree blocking his path and was shot in the back by a 12 gauge shotgun. Barr was Marsack's immediate supervisor.

Zipser argued that circumstances in the case point to the possibility of Marsack being framed for the murder.

"All the evidence has not fallen together the way it should," Zipser said.

Crawford County Sheriff Department officials explained that in about two weeks there will be a pre-trial conference in the Crawford County Circuit Court. At that time, a judge will be appointed, through a lottery system, to preside over the trial and a date for the trial will be set.

Marsack was arrested at Metropolitan Airport in Detroit, three days after the murder took place. He was transported to Grayling where he continues to be lodged in the Crawford County Jail.

Grayling Civil War vets honored..... 127 years after the last shots fired

By Terry Wright

One-hundred twenty-seven years after the end of their great war, seven local Civil War veterans may be honored for service to their country. The seven are all buried in the old Elmwood Cemetery in Grayling but none of them has a tombstone on their grave. That's unacceptable to Bob and Fay Bovee of Grayling. Working with cemetery sexton Peter Stephan, the Bovee's intend to see that the situation is corrected.

Under a program in which the federal government provides free military gravestones to deceased veterans, the Bovee's are in the process of gathering information, and locating the graves of the seven soldiers. When the proper documentation is completed, Derek McEvers of the Sorenson Funeral Home, has promised to send the applications for the stones into the government.

If the process goes as planned, the stones will be in place by next Memorial Day.

The seven Civil War veterans are among seventeen that are buried in the old cemetery. The other ten already have stones on their graves and are not eligible for military stones. Across the street in the new Elmwood Cemetery, there are twenty-seven more Civil War veterans buried. When the Bovee's finish with the old cemetery, they are planning to begin in the new Elmwood Cemetery.

In their work to date, the Bovee's report that progress is slow because of a lack of, or the absence of correct information about the soldiers or the location of their graves. In fact, they only have complete information on one soldier, William S. Chalker. His information was found in an Avalanche story of April 8, 1920, reporting his death.

The Avalanche reported in that issue that William S. Chalker was born on May 29, 1842, and died on April 3, 1920. It gave his Civil War regiment as being Company I, 1st Regiment of U.S. Artillery. A listing of Crawford County Civil War veterans obtained by the Bovee's from the State of Michigan, showed that Chalker is buried in lot 99 of the old Elmwood Cemetery.

The Bovee's are currently looking for complete information on the following Civil War veterans:

- H. Filly
buried in lot 84 of Elmwood
- William P. Green
Co. G, 2nd Mich. Inf
- Peter Larson
died 1905
buried in lot 95-F
- Delivan Taylor
buried in lot 22-D
- ??????? Taylor
buried in lot 22-B
- William Walker
buried in lot 3

In earlier years, Grayling was home to the Marvin Post of the Grand Army of the Republic (G.A.R.) The G.A.R. was a nationwide organization, much like veterans organizations of today, consisting of survivors of the Civil War.

If you have any information about the Marvin Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, who were its members, where they met, where their records are, who was its last surviving member, when it was organized and when it ceased to exist, please write down what you know and leave your information at the Avalanche for Bob and Fay Bovee.

Also, information on any of the Civil War veterans mentioned above will help the Bovee's in placing monuments on their graves.

7 businesses stung for selling to minors

Seven county businesses were cited with violations of alcohol sales laws after an undercover operation revealed the seven had sold alcohol to minor decoys.

In the evening hours of Wednesday, November 10, officers from the Crawford County Sheriff Department, Michigan Liquor Control Commission, and STING Narcotics, sent under-aged decoys into numerous local establishments to purchase alcohol. The decoys possessed valid identification that set the age of the decoys at 19 years-of-age. Violations resulted when alcohol was sold to the decoys resulting from identification not being requested, or when identification was requested but age restrictions were not followed.

The Sheriff Department said the businesses that were cited for violations include Rochette's IGA, Rite Aid Pharmacy, Drake's Union 76, Grayling E-Z Mart, Quick-Sav Food Store, Swamp II, and Jack's Place.

The seven businesses consisted of over 50% of all businesses approached. The operation was undertaken in response to the growing problem of local minors involved in alcohol related problems that have occurred in our area lately, they added.

Two arraigned in bus vandalism

By Terry Wright

Grayling High School seniors Jason Lademan, 17, of Frederic, and Michael Terrien, 18, of Grayling, were arraigned in Crawford County Circuit Court on charges of malicious destruction of property over $100. The charges stem from vandalism against nine Crawford AuSable School District buses, in which brake lines were cut, air valve stems were broken, and rear light fixtures were smashed.

The two were arrested after Sheriff Department officers received a phone tip pointing to one of the men. Prior to the tip, $200 in reward money had been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for the vandalism.

The vandalism occurred sometime during the weekend of November 6-7 and was discovered by alert bus drivers on the following Monday during pre-route inspections. The vandalism caused the Crawford AuSable Schools to be closed November 8.

At his arraignment on November 15, Lademan stood mute to the charges. Terrien will be arraigned at a later date. Both men remain lodged in the Crawford County Jail.

Under the Michigan criminal justice laws, the pair face maximum penalties of up to four years imprisonment for felony vandalism.

GRAYLING VETERAN'S DAY OBSERVANCE--On Thursday, November 11, veterans and veteran's organizations in Grayling held this special memorial ceremony to honor all veterans who served their country in time of war. The flags of many deceased veterans were flown in tribute. The ceremony took place on the lawn in front of the Copper Kettle Restaurant. (Linda Wright photo)

Corlew story airs on TV-7/4

PERRY'S FAMILY WAITS AND WATCHES--Roberta Corlew sits beside a picture of the son she hasn't seen nor heard from in 19 years. Perry Corlew disappeared in March, 1974, after his car was found empty in the middle of I-75 near the Roscommon exit with the engine running, the lights on, and the driver's door open. He hasn't been heard from since.

Perry's family has never given up hope of finding him, and are anxiously awaiting the airing of Perry's story on the TV-7/4, 11 p.m. news on Wednesday, November 17. The NBC affiliate is airing an entire series of unsolved northern Michigan mysteries this week.

Today, Perry is 37-years-old. Anyone with information about Perry's mysterious disappearance is asked to contact the Corlew family in Grayling.

Grayling Junior Miss contestants debut at A.B.W.A. fall fashion show

There was a standing room only crowd at the fall fashion show on November 10, at Chief Shoppenagon's as everyone turned out to see what the newest fashions were from Cartwright & Danewell and Jan's Closet, and to see 14 of Grayling loveliest young ladies model the clothing. The Grayling Junior Miss contestants made their first official appearance in what will be a busy and exciting schedule leading up to the pageant February 19, 1994. The fashion show and the Grayling Junior Miss Pageant is sponsored by the Grayling Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Pageant Director Sandra Moore welcomed everyone to the show and introduced commentators Jan Henderson of Jan's Closet and Julie Calkins of Cartwright & Danewell. They introduced the models and described the fashions. The models (and contestants) this year are Mandy Duvall, Tara Emmons, Sarah Furst, Dusty Gammon, Tammy Green, Maxine Miller, Lynne Rochette, Samara Sabin, Katie Smock, Heidi Smock, Carrie Wells, Nicole Wilcox, Sarah Woodland, and Angie Young. They all did a superb job of modeling. Rhea of Flowers by Josie contributed flowers for a beautiful background. Cartwright & Danewell and Jan's Closet gave each contestant 20% off any clothing they purchased, and two lucky models received a gift certificate. These were won by Tara Emmons for Jan's Closet and Lynne Rochette for Cartwright & Danewell. Other helpers for the evening were Steve Moore and Scott Fick who set up the runway for the models and Dan VanNuck who escorted the models from the runway. Beginning on November 27, the girls will take part in a fitness routine every Saturday at Hanson Hills. Then in January they will have a busy schedule of workshops and events leading up to the pageant.

A.B.W.A. appreciates the assistance of Mary Harland, Pauline Petroskey, Mickey Perez, Sheila Palmer, and the Chief Shoppenagon staff, and all its members for making the fashion show a success.

Local taxidermist seeks to win world's best

By Terry Wright

Tony Rusiecki developed a love for the Michigan outdoors playing in the woods as a child. Through the years, that love grew into a passion for hunting and fishing that consumed most of Tony's recreation time. As an adult Tony wanted to display some of his trophies in his home and decided to try his luck at taxidermy.

He began by reading books, and viewing videos to learn how to mount fish, and struggled through several unsuccessful mounts before he was satisfied with his work. Enjoying the creativity of taxidermy, Tony worked out of his garage and whatever space was available to continue his hobby.

Four years ago Tony and wife Tina moved to Grayling where Tony had taken a job with a local manufacturer. He continued with taxidermy as a hobby until he was laid off from his new job. At that time Tony and Tina decided that Tony's skills as a taxidermist had increased, and the time was right to give it a try, full-time.

Since that time, Tony has mounted over 500 trophies, and has won several state, national, and international awards. "My goal," Tony said, "is to do a whitetail mount that is judged the best in the world." To date, the International Guild of Taxidermists has given him two second place and three third place awards. He has also won a third place award for a brook trout that he mounted and entered in a National Taxidermist Association competition. From the Michigan Taxidermist Association, Tony's work has won a second place award, two third place awards, and two honorable mentions. He has never failed to win an award in any competition he has entered.

In just four years as a full-time taxidermist, Tony has developed the skill to tackle any kind of mount and is currently working on various fish, turkeys, deer, bear, two moose, an antelope, a mountain goat and a shark. He is also in the process of mounting two owls and a bobcat for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. His most unusual mounts include two plains bison, a mountain lion, and several rattlesnakes.

Besides mounting wild game, Tony also builds landscapes for his full mounts. To display the mountain goat descending a rocky cliff, Tony will build a sheer, stone cliff that must perfectly match actual mountain terrain, but also be a perfect match to a stone fireplace wall where the trophy will be displayed.

The perfection of Tony's work also extends to designing and hand carving many of the bodies of the game that he mounts in more unusual postures.

He said the only part of mounting that he doesn't do himself is the tanning of hides. Because of the dangerous chemicals involved in the tanning process, he sends hides out to be tanned commercially. "With an eight-year-old daughter running around the shop, I don't want those chemicals around," he said.

Although Tina holds down another full-time job, she also helps Tony by being a general all around helper, especially with sewing hides. And, she is his critic. "Tony had a lot of difficulty learning how to paint fish," she said. "Until he caught on, he was really bad."

Now, he enjoys working to create fish more than any other kind of mount and is a fully certified fish and gamehead Taxidermist. He is also currently working through the International Guild of Taxidermy to become certified on small mammals and birds. "Once I have those four individual certifications," he said, "I will be a certified master."

His reputation has grown rapidly, and now he can boast of customers from as far away as California and Colorado. "Most of my business is from downstate and the Grayling area but as people hear about my work I'm starting to get jobs from all over."

Tony and Tina have built a beautiful showroom next to their home with more than 20 of his game mounts on display. Some are displayed in a large, landscaped, natural area that makes them seem almost to come to life.

With deer season in progress, Tony reminds hunters who may want to have their trophies mounted that special handling of deer is necessary to not destroy the hide or the meat. He has a special brochure printed that explains the dos and don'ts of preparing a trophy for mounting, or he will be happy to explain them over the phone.

Tony's Taxidermy showroom and workshop are located seven miles west of Grayling on M-72. You may stop in to see him or call him at 348-4789.

TONY'S TAXIDERMY SHOWROOM--Tony Rusiecki stands next to some of the trophy mounts he has created. Tony taught himself the craft and now makes his living at it.

ELEVEN AWARDS IN ELEVEN TRIES--Tony is proud of the fact that his mounts have won numerous awards in state, national, and international competition.

Frederic man pleads guilty to gun assault

By Terry Wright

Crawford County Sheriff deputies arrested Carter Pavey III, 37, of Frederic, on charges of attempted murder. A second charge of felonious assault was added later. He was arraigned in Circuit Court November 15, where he pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of felonious assault. According to court officials the attempted murder charges will be dropped.

Judge Alton Davis set a bond of $15,000 for Pavey's release. Ten percent of that amount was paid and Pavey was released from jail.

The charges stem from an incident when Pavey allegedly pointed a shotgun at another man and told the man he was going to shoot him. The unidentified victim stated the only thing that saved his life was that he deflected the barrel of the gun before it discharged.

Sheriff Department officials said the incident was the result of an argument between Pavey and the victim in which alcohol was involved.

Sentencing for Pavey will occur sometime in December.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cultural institutions and exhibits are an extension of education

In nearly verbatim press releases appearing as articles in the Osego County Herald Times ADZ, 11/7/93 and the Crawford County Avalanche, 11/11/93, 105th District State Representative Allen Lowe stated, "I don't think we should continue to subsidize libraries, museums, and other cultural institutions in one urban area..." It was further asserted "...he [Rep. Lowe] wants to eliminate or decrease these expensive programs..."

The suggestion that we discontinue the Detroit Institute of Arts and other valuable cultural and educational resources because the main population area of Michigan at the time of their founding did not lie in the 105th District (nor does it currently) is unconscionable. Funding for these institutions has already been drastically cut by the State Legislature causing further distress for Michigan citizens culturally and economically due to shortening of hours, discontinuance of programs, and sweeping staff cuts.

I am sorry that Rep. Lowe feels that so few in the 105th District avail ourselves of the fine cultural and educational institutions and programs still open to us.

On October 25, 1993, my eleven year old daughter and myself had the good fortune to see an authentic Vincent Van Gogh self-portrait at the Denny's Museum Center in Traverse City. The two of us were among 8,500 people (including hundreds of students on field trips from schools in the 105th District) who from only October 22-31, viewed this masterpiece. Sponsorship of this exhibit? The Van Gogh was courtesy of The Detroit Institute of Arts. Unfortunately, due to the previously mentioned cutbacks, the Statewide Services Program which had funded traveling exhibits has been cut. The Van Gogh exhibit was a singular opportunity for northern Michigan funded by The Detroit Institute of Arts Founders Society, a fundraising arm of the institute with limited ability to provide funding for all the services formerly available for Michigan residents statewide.

School field trips, many paid for through fundraising efforts of the students themselves, to these outstanding exhibits and cultural institutions are an extension of education. It is one thing to read about something, another to have it permanently imprinted by seeing it.

Our children can no longer be educated only in and about the area they live, as possibly many of us were in the past. Our children are growing up in a technologically advanced society which intertwines with the international marketplace. Rep. Lowe should be aiming "high" to find ways to broaden and expand our children's education, not reduce it, if he truly believes his statement in the releases, "...educating our children must remain our top priority."

Veterans Day should be observed correctly or not at all

What has happened to Veterans' Day, a day when a grateful nation honors the veterans of all our wars. In the days prior to World War II we as a nation honored the veterans of World War I. Flags were flown at half staff as we showed our respect and gratitude for veterans both living and dead. As school children, the 11th hour, of the 11th day, of the 11th month, would find us with bowed heads in silent prayer. It was not a day off for very many employees, but to honor those who had served our country. Then with a display of wisdom so common in the halls of Congress, Armistice Day was changed to Veterans Day to honor all veterans. Now except for a very few places, Veterans Day has become just another paid holiday without much attention being paid to those it is supposed to honor. I believe the proper protocol is for flags to be flown at half staff in honor of those who have died while serving or have served our flag.

I was very disappointed to see the flags flying at full staff at most, if not all the government agencies in Grayling. Phone calls there mostly produced a "nobody told me" answer. If we are to continue to observe Veterans Day, let's do it right or drop it.

How many cats have disappeared without a trace?

In your classified advertisements, there have been at least two items concerning lost pet house cats. In our neighborhood, within ten days after 15 October, at least three cats disappeared without a trace. How many others have been lost in this way in our community?

This is not meant to reopen the argument about cats, dogs, and their nuisance value. I ask simply whether there is more than a coincidence here. A lost pet is not the same as a lost child, but the owners always would like to know what happened to their pet.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT

By Joe Murphy

Most people who are not deer hunters do not realize what a phenomenal and miraculous animal the white tail deer, especially of the male gender, really are. One would assume once a buck deer is killed and eaten that would be the end of them. Wrong, as wrong, as wrong can be. It is really the beginning of life for them. Say a hunter kills a buck standing dead still with barely three inch spikes at 20 yards this fall. You can bet by next year it will be at least four points at 100 yards. Each year that buck will get bigger and farther away until in about ten years it will be a 12 point at close to 400 yards. When it has reached that distance another miracle will take place. That long dead deer will soon be running across a clearing, then the brush will begin to grow as thick as the hair on a dog. Soon the only possible shot will be through a pie plate sized opening, but by then our hunter will be able to make such shots with ease. Another miracle that a white tail deer is able to perform is to reproduce long after it is dead. Over the years that one buck will become at least a dozen, all with huge racks. I know most non hunters will find it hard to believe, but I know any old deer hunter will have witnessed the same miracle many times. So when you see a white tail buck you are looking at an animal that is capable of performing miracles far beyond the mind of man to understand.

Hunting is one of the safest sports we have, but let's all do our share to make it even safer. Most accidents are among members of the same group. The loading and unloading of guns is the most dangerous time. A group of people talking about where they are going to hunt or the deer seen at the end of the day is a breeding ground for an accident. Don't load or unload your guns standing around in a group. Wait until you are alone and be extra careful where your gun is pointing. Saying you're sorry to a dead man just doesn't cut it.

Envy you young people who will be hunting for the first time this year. Your days in the deer woods are just beginning, while mine are near the end. Some of the best days of my life have been spent there. I know you are all in a hurry to put your tag on a nice buck and I wish you the best of luck. But the years will have many lessons to teach you. Age will teach you that the actual kill is not the most important thing about hunting. It is just being there sitting quietly while a chipmunk or a chickadee comes to look you over. Maybe just a quiet time to remember those who were near and dear to you. With years, you will come to the point in time where even when presented with a good shot at a nice buck, you do not allow it to interrupt your reverie. Good hunting and good luck to all.

Either the Buck Stops Here, or This One's For You

Dear Readers: Ask and you shall receive. Many of you wrote to express your appreciation of the column format which gives away bulk dollars by my printing just a response without the letter.

The following represents what I was able to give away in a 2 hour time frame:

You need to learn how to budget your money better, Mrs. R. O. of Sibley, IA. You're chronically a day late and a dollar short. The $375 I'm sending will bring you current on your bills. Now it's up to you to practice maintenance. Oscoda County Gazette-Tribune

It's one thing to be ashamed of your father and it's another thing to hate him. I'm not sure how I'd feel, R. L. of Cordale, GA. If my father had been convicted of rape. To help you and your brother with clothing, my $400 is on the way. Crisp Area Shopper

All too often, it's easier to stay in a bad situation and do nothing, than it is to make a change for the better by doing something. To help you move on, Mrs. D. S. of Pueblo, CO, I'm sending $500 for a rent deposit. In 3 months you'll look back and say, "Why didn't I do this sooner?" Here's to the wonderment of hindsight. Thrifty Nickel

As an advocate for the elderly, I voice my concern for your mother, Mr. T. H. of Missoula, MT. Please see to it that she's eating properly and is warm this winter with the $600 I'm sending. Although people may need to ask for things like food and fuel, no one should have to beg for them. Missoula Messenger

I don't know who your long distance carrier is either, Mrs. C. R. of Gillette, WY. However, the $300 I'm sending should cover phone calls to your 14 grandchildren over the upcoming Holidays. May their lines not be busy and your calls warmly received. Gillette Area Advertiser

President Clinton should be a little nervous

ONE OF THE BEAUTIES of off-year elections is that they are so easy to interpret.

One of the offshoots of that claim is that anyone can be right about his/her interpretations — regardless of the level of experience or knowledge of the interpreter, or what she/he read into the results.

Everyone is going to come out with something right about what happened when off-year voters speak... and everyone is going to be a bit wrong, too.

Voters are inclined to speak in different tongues, and for different reasons.

In 1993, for example, some leaned toward liberals, some toward conservatives. Most wanted change, yet many elected familiar names and faces. The incumbent seemed to be an endangered species... but not all incumbents.

LET'S LOOK AT the facts. Republicans picked off three of the top partisanly contested races in the nation, and President Clinton should be nervous about that.

In New York City, Republican Rudolph Giuliani defeated incumbent Mayor David Dinkins, a Democrat, in a re-run of a battle four years ago when Mr. Dinkins became New York's first black mayor.

In a further bit of anomaly, Mr. Giuliani is white, in a city which is about three-quarters black. Republican Giuliani, a government prosecuting attorney by trade, is a strong law-and-order advocate in a traditionally liberal environment. Go figure.

IN NEW JERSEY, Democratic

Gov. Jim Florio was ousted by a Republican, Christine Todd Whitman, despite the fact that the Presidents Clinton — both elected Bill and non-elected Hillary — campaigned vigorously for Mr. Florio.

Mr. Florio suffered from backlash due to a rather harsh state tax increase early in his State house tenure. Apparently the backlash survived, even though Mr. Florio did not.

Ms. Whitman came close to knocking over Sen. Bill Bradley in a New Jersey race last year, trumpeting loudly her anti-tax message. She kept right on campaigning, only shifting her target slightly, and came out on top this year.

THEN THERE'S VIRGINIA, which has not elected a Republican governor since 1977.

It was an open seat; Gov. Douglas Wilder was not allowed by constitution to go for another term.

The Democratic candidate — Mary Sue Terry — politely declined Clinton campaigning in her behalf, yet lost anyway to Republican George Allen.

The Virginia Democratic party has been sundered by internal strife, which may have had an effect on the result. But the fact remains that Republicans won.

The three Republican showcase triumphs in 1993, along with other Democratic setbacks since Mr. Clinton took office — special Senate elections in Georgia and Texas, for example — may instill a bit of tarnish to what the Clintons hope to achieve for the next couple of years.

The 1993 elections, for one, may have sounded the death knell for the NAFTA proposal.

They may make the Clinton version of health care more difficult to adopt; indeed, the election results may cause the nation to look carefully at the basic question about health care which has been largely neglected: Do we really want a national health care program at all?

ON THE OTHER side of the coin, 1993 also will stir even stronger urgings among ambitious Republicans who yearn to suffer the splendid misery of the White House.

The 1996 Republican nomination for president becomes even more desirable, and the field of potentials will become both larger and more lively. The hospitality industry in New Hampshire, Iowa and other early primary states should enjoy boom times.

Off-year elections indeed are open to all sorts of speculation. A couple of veteran political observers, for example, offered somewhat opposite interpretations.

"It's a big, big defeat for the White House," said one.

"I don't think you can draw too many conclusions from this," said another.

One of these commentators was President Bill Clinton.

The other was Sen. Bob Dole, Senate Republican leader.

The maddening point about interpreting off-year elections is that probably they both are right.

It's interesting also to try to guess which one made which analysis.

Grayling Township gains new classification

By Shirley D. Schmoock

The 1990 census figures have cast Grayling Township into a new role: that of being in the "Large/Urban Township Directory." This information came to light at the April 1993 meeting of the Grayling Township Board and was contained in a now-controversial report submitted by the chairman of the Grayling Township Compensation Commission. The report of April 13, 1993, stated that Grayling Township has joined 150 member townships eligible for this classification. This new category compels the township board to pass a resolution, prior to the next general election, which would allow the voters of the township to decide upon increasing the current number of trustees from five to seven.

Township Ordinance 7-75 mandates that a panel of five registered electors comprise the Compensation Commission and every two years "determine the salaries of the townships elected officials." Sitting currently on this commission are Garland Joyce, chairman, Susan Boehner, Michael Hees, Dennis Palmer and Robert Paulsen. Members of this commission were approved by the township board.

Prior to the April 13 date, the members had been meeting to review salary increase requests, and make recommendations as to what, if any, raises were to be granted for the 1993-1994 budget year. The final decisions of this commission were based upon review of the actual and anticipated workloads of the elected officials.

When the report was submitted to the township board, however, it was questioned by other panel members as to whether Joyce's personal section labeled "Recommendations and Suggestions" should have been included. Joyce's portion, which was eventually excluded from the majority report, showed salaries and benefits for township officials and employees consumed 38% of the total township budget, that amount being $50,700. It also compared Grayling to other townships of its size and claimed that: 1. Fiftyone Large Urban Townships (LUT) have their own police departments. Grayling Township contributes only $1,500 to the Crawford County Sheriff Department budgets.

2. Fifty seven LUTs have their own fire departments. Grayling Township contributes $50,000 annually for protection and maintenance of equipment.

3. Sixteen LUTs have their own sewage disposal plants. Grayling Township assumes no responsibility for sewage disposal.

4. Grayling Township assumes no responsibility for water conditions, water quality, inspection or septic permits. These are assumed by District #1 Health Department.

5. There are no written job descriptions for township supervisor, clerk or treasurer.

6. The Grayling Township "Policy Manual" is replete with general statements, lacks the necessary language to serve as a document that could be used if employee relations are challenged, and is in general, not a complete or current document.

And while the overall recommendation by the salary review committee was to raise the salaries of township supervisor Arnold Stancil and treasurer, Ruth O'Mara, by 4%, an amount roughly approximating the current Cost of Living Index, this increase did not meet Stancil's written request for a 14% raise, a request which was denied unanimously. On the other hand, Monica Ashton, township clerk, was given a base salary increase as well as the additional 4% cost of living increase.

On April 21, Stancil wrote a letter to Chairman Joyce requesting that "it is my sad duty to ask you for your voluntary resignation from the Grayling Township Compensation Commission," citing MCL 87.40 as legal precedent for his request. This statute, according to attorney William Carey, however, "applies to fourth class cities, and is not at all applicable to a township municipality." Stancil claimed in his letter Joyce had "revised and misrepresented" the commission's findings.

A second letter of June 14, stated even more firmly "if I have not received your resignation by June 30, 1993, you will be automatically removed from this position by me..."

Neither letter to Joyce was written on township letterhead. According to John Medler, a township trustee, "those letters were not voted upon or approved by the board. We have never voted to dismiss Bud Joyce. I believe this is nothing but a personal vendetta and I'm glad the public is finally finding out what's been going on here."

Joyce has retained an attorney, at his own expense, for the purpose of "defending myself against arrogance and ignorance. I've spent my entire adult life defending our constitutional rights. I believe that when a person volunteers and tries to be of help, that person should be protected from arbitrary and unreasonable actions. This whole matter could have been avoided with some common courtesy, and I consider it the most underhanded thing I've ever experienced," Joyce said.

Grayling Township Ordinance 7-75, the enabling legislation for creating the Compensation Commission, has no expulsion provisions. On August 12 Stancil advised both the Compensation Commission and the Grayling Township Board of his activities to expel Joyce. Stancil said, when asked about the rising attorney fees, "we have insurance for this kind of thing. Dosson charges $70 an hour, but when we hit a cap of $250, it goes to the insurance company lawyers. I've already filed a claim."

In a letter to Stancil on September 16, Compensation Commission member Robert Paulsen, detailed the committee's activities, and said, "I believe it was obvious to the commission members that Mr. Joyce was well qualified to be our chairman. Mr. Joyce not only spent a great deal of time and effort in his research, but always, in my opinion, did his best to be fair to all members. I also believe he is incapable of dishonesty, deceit, or deliberate misrepresentation."

At the October 12 meeting of the Grayling Township Board, Dosson was instructed to schedule such a hearing on behalf of Chairman Joyce. Newly elected township trustee Melvin "Pat" Nunn said, "Doug Dosson gave the board several alternative ways of avoiding further conflict. He tried to evaluate the situation by explaining the board must abide by the requirements of due process. It's a shame it had to go this far."

No date has yet been set for this hearing.

November is National Hospice Month

November is being observed nationwide as National Hospice Month. Hospice is a special kind of care for terminally ill people.

"Terminal illness is not a pleasant subject to discuss," said Sandra Jackson, director of Hospice with Loving Care, "and a lot of people don't know that something called hospice even exists or what it can offer. Yet hospice has been caring for the people of Roscommon and Crawford counties since 1984, and we are committed to reaching anyone who may need our services."

The goal of hospice is to enable the dying to enjoy the best possible quality of life until their last moments, pain free, surrounded by friends and family, and at home.

This November Hospice with Loving Care volunteers and staff hope to involve business and other organizations to raise awareness of hospice and its important role in the community. Using the theme, "Hospice: Caring for Our Community," more than 1,800 hospice programs all across the nation will conduct special events during National Hospice Month, Jackson said.

For additional details, or for more information about the hospice concept of care, contact Jackson at 275-8967.

Secretary of State offices announce holiday hours

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced today that all 180 Secretary of State branch offices will close in observance of state holidays during November and December. The branch offices will close for Thanksgiving on Thursday and Friday, November 25 and 26; Christmas on Thursday and Friday, December 23 and 24; New Year's on Thursday and Friday, December 30 and 31.

Austin reminds motorists of the Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) "Tie One On for Safety" campaign. MADD encourages motorists to drive sober and tie commemorative red ribbons on their vehicles during the holiday season, when opportunities to drink and drive abound.

Austin also urged motorists to celebrate the holidays with a renewed commitment to safety belt use, even in vehicles equipped with air bags. Michigan drivers, who achieved 64.4 percent safety belt usage in a recent study, are required to wear safety belts as are all front seat passengers and all vehicle occupants under age 16. Children under age four must use a child safety seat when in the front seat, and a safety belt when in back. All children under age one must use a safety seat no matter where they are seated in the vehicle.

Motorists whose driver licenses or license plates expire over any of the long holiday weekends should renew early. Customers can expect fastest service midmorning, midafternoon and midweek. Most Secretary of State offices are open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. other weekdays.

Correction/Clarification

In last week's Avalanche, we inadvertently attributed Anne Beckwith as being the GHS freshmen girls basketball coach. She was the 7th grade girls basketball coach. Michelle Moore was the freshman girls coach.

We apologize to both Ms. Moore and Ms. Beckwith for this mistake, and hope that it has caused them no inconvenience.

DRAFT ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

of the

Multiple Launch Rocket System Conversion

The Michigan National Guard would like to turn-in the 8-inch howitzers currently fired at Camp Grayling by its 182nd Field Artillery Battalion and replace them with the new Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS) used in Desert Storm. The MLRS would fire a non-explosive training round at Camp Grayling thereby significantly reducing overall Range 40 artillery firing noise.

A draft report has been prepared that analyzes whether the action complies with environmental laws and what effect it is likely to have on noise, air and water quality, soils, endangered species, and other natural resources. It is titled the "Multiple Launch Rocket System Unit Reorganization/Conversion and Firing Draft Environmental Assessment," or "Draft EA." Before we finalize this EA, we want to make sure it addresses all of your concerns.

From now until December 17, 1993, you can study the Draft EA at the following locations:

Department of Military Affairs
Public Affairs Office
2500 S. Washington Ave.
Lansing, MI 48913
8 am - 4 pm, Mon. - Fri.

Camp Grayling Headquarters
Public Affairs Office
Building 117
Grayling, MI 49738
8 am - 4 pm, Mon. - Fri.

Crawford County Library
106 James Street
Grayling, MI 49738
10 am - 7 pm, Mon. - Thurs.
10 am - 6 pm, Fri. and 10 am - 2 pm, Sat.

Also, a limited number of copies of the Draft EA are available for mailing to interested persons by calling (517) 483-5600.

We would appreciate your comments on the Draft EA. Your letter needs to be received at the Department of Military Affairs by December 17, 1993, (please use the address listed above). These letters will be included in the Final EA.

Your comments will be used by the Department of Military Affairs to prepare a Final EA which will help us decide whether to proceed with this action, modify the action, or take no action. The Final EA will also be announced in this newspaper, made available at the above locations, and be open for additional public comment.

For additional information, contact Lt. Col. Brian Downey

In last week's edition of the Avalanche, the last paragraph of the Armistice Day story by Shirley D. Schmooch was not printed correctly. The paragraph appears below in its entirety.

And I thought being the mother of a Scudbusting Lt. during the Gulf War was exciting. To Blue Star mothers everywhere... thank you. But as writer Sheryl James recently put it, "like soldiers, wars get old and die." Let's take time today to remember all of those who did or did not come back, for on this day... November 11... we, as a nation, must pause to remember our fighting forces and those who call them son or daughter.

Financial help available for winter heating bills

The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC), the state's regulated gas and electric utility companies, and rural electric cooperatives are encouraging senior citizens, unemployed and low-income utility customers to enroll in "Be Winter Wise" programs. If faced with heating bills this winter that they cannot pay, customers should contact their utility company immediately to sign up for the Winter Protection Plan, Home Heating Credit, Earned Income Credit, or other bill payment assistance and energy conservation programs.

Now embarking on the tenth year, "Be Winter Wise" encourages customers to conserve energy and sign up for protection programs early in the heating season. All state regulated utility companies will offer assistance and/or shut off protection programs this winter. The programs will assist low-income customers, senior citizens and public assistance recipients.

During the 1992-93 heating season more than one million customers of state regulated utility companies participated in various energy assistance programs. These programs are designed to ensure that qualifying low-income and senior citizen customers receive shut off protection and bill payment assistance.

Customers are urged to contact their utility company before high bills become a problem. The utility company will attempt to put the customer in touch with public or private social service agencies which may be able to offer financial assistance. Customers can also contact the Michigan Public Service Commission staff for information at 1-800-292-9555.

DOODLES FROM THE TALL TIMBER

Wendell L. Hoover Park Interpreter, Hartwick Pines State Park

A variety of birds make use of the feeder throughout the day between visits from our resident red squirrels who are somewhat stymied by my squirrel proofing effort, but are duty bound to test the system anyway.

The chickadees, red and white breasted nuthatches, finches, hairy and downy woodpeckers, a pair of cardinals and the soon to migrate juncos keep the area around the feeder a hub of activity, but even the bluejays give way when the squirrel shows up as do the evening grosbeaks.

At night a cottontail and several mice visit the area searching for left over sunflower seeds or corn that the other visitors have overlooked. The mice secret themselves close by, but the cottontail travels a little distance, because I suspect the feeder is on the edge of the territories of two cottontails as the tracks I'm reading in the snow indicate some sparring matches have taken place. The birds come and go for whatever reason and I suspect they check out the menu being presented at the neighbors' feeder in the course of their travels.

If you can maintain a feeding station I'm sure you won't be disappointed with your visitors, especially if there is protective cover nearby to provide sanctuary from predators or the weather.

G.H.S. fall play attracts large crowd

By Nancy Lemmen

The Grayling High School Players presented their fall play, Up The Down Staircase, to large, appreciative crowds on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 12-13.

The full-length play, based on the novel by Bel Kaufman, focuses on the first semester of a young English teacher's experience in the fictional Calvin Coolidge High School in New York City.

The title of the play is taken from a remark made by a disgruntled administrator about a rebellious student who always "goes up the down staircase," in defiance of school regulations.

The play was the first GHS Players' production directed by Grayling Middle School English instructor Jim Lewis. Lewis, who is in his second year with the Crawford AuSable School District, directed two middle school plays last year and has a third in rehearsal now.

Lewis' choice of Up The Down Staircase provided roles for 30 talented GHS students.

The teacher, Sylvia Barrett, was played by freshman Mary Wakeley, who appeared in nearly every scene of the two-hour play.

Sylvia quickly scuttles her opening day lesson plans, "first impressions," in the face of the school's bureaucratic demands and her students' various forms of misbehavior.

Although nearly overwhelmed by the reality of teaching inner-city students, Sylvia receives the support of her experienced colleague, Bea Schacter (senior Melanie Ross), and handsome English Department instructor, Paul Barringer (junior Jacob Lepsy).

The school's administrators — all of whom are more interested in paperwork and procedures than the success of the students — appear in scenes taking place in Sylvia's classroom, as well as in vignettes on a platform positioned to one side, representing memos, notes, public address announcements and past or future conversations with Sylvia.

The various administrators included junior Bryan Bearss as Dr. Maxwell Clarke, principal; junior Eric Shepherd, vice principal J. J. McHabe; freshman Rachael Porter, guidance counselor Ella Friedenberg; freshman Annie Becks, Frances Egan, school nurse; senior Kate DeVries, Charlotte Wolf, librarian; junior Jeff Taylor, Samuel Bester, chairman of the English department; and senior Julie Gingerick, secretary.

The students in Sylvia's class ran the gamut of types, including class clown Lou Martin, played by scene-stealing freshman Jake Macklem who greets her with "Hey, Teach"; hood Lennie Neumark who calls himself "The Hawk" (junior Andrew Riedner); and pretty Alice Blake (sophomore Erica Hinkle), who is infatuated with Mr. Barringer. In her desperation after her teacher corrects the errors in a love poem she writes him, Alice jumps out of a school window.

There is the unfashionable Vivian Paine (senior Amy Furst); the boy crazy yet sweet Linda Rosen (freshman Onna Ingvarsson); and the insecure Joe Roberts, who gains confidence during a class discussion of Macbeth (junior Peter Radzwion).

There was the unfashionable Vivian Paine (senior Amy Furst); the boy crazy yet sweet Linda Rosen (freshman Onna Ingvarsson); and the insecure Joe Roberts, who gains confidence during a class discussion of Macbeth (junior Peter Radzwion).

There was also Carrie Blaine, who carries a chip on her shoulder (senior Rene Akers); brown noser Harry Kagan (junior Nat Rosi); school newspaper reporter Jill Norris (freshman Arica Burkett); serious but discontented Rachel Gordon (freshman Tina Lobsinger); creative Elizabeth Ellis (freshman Julia McAnallen); and drop-out Charles freshman Jennie Lech.

Freshman Gretchen Ross played Sylvia's college friend Ellen, in scenes in which the two exchange letters, and freshman Casey McCoy portrayed a salesman.

Much of the story surrounds the seemingly incorrigible Joe Ferone (played by junior Mike Amman), whose delinquent behavior threatens to get him expelled by McHabe, yet whose potential is recognized by Sylvia. Influenced by her, by the second semester (and the play's end), Joe decides to stay in school.

Sylvia also is better prepared for the challenge of the classroom. The play closes with her responding to one of the student's "Hey, Teach" greetings with a confident "Hey, Pupe."

GHS 1993 alumnus Douglas Wendling designed the set and lighting for the play.

Set crew included seniors Ron Hough, Jaime Vendeville and Ande Witt, junior Travis Patrick and freshmen Mike Bobenmoyer and Andy Radzwion.

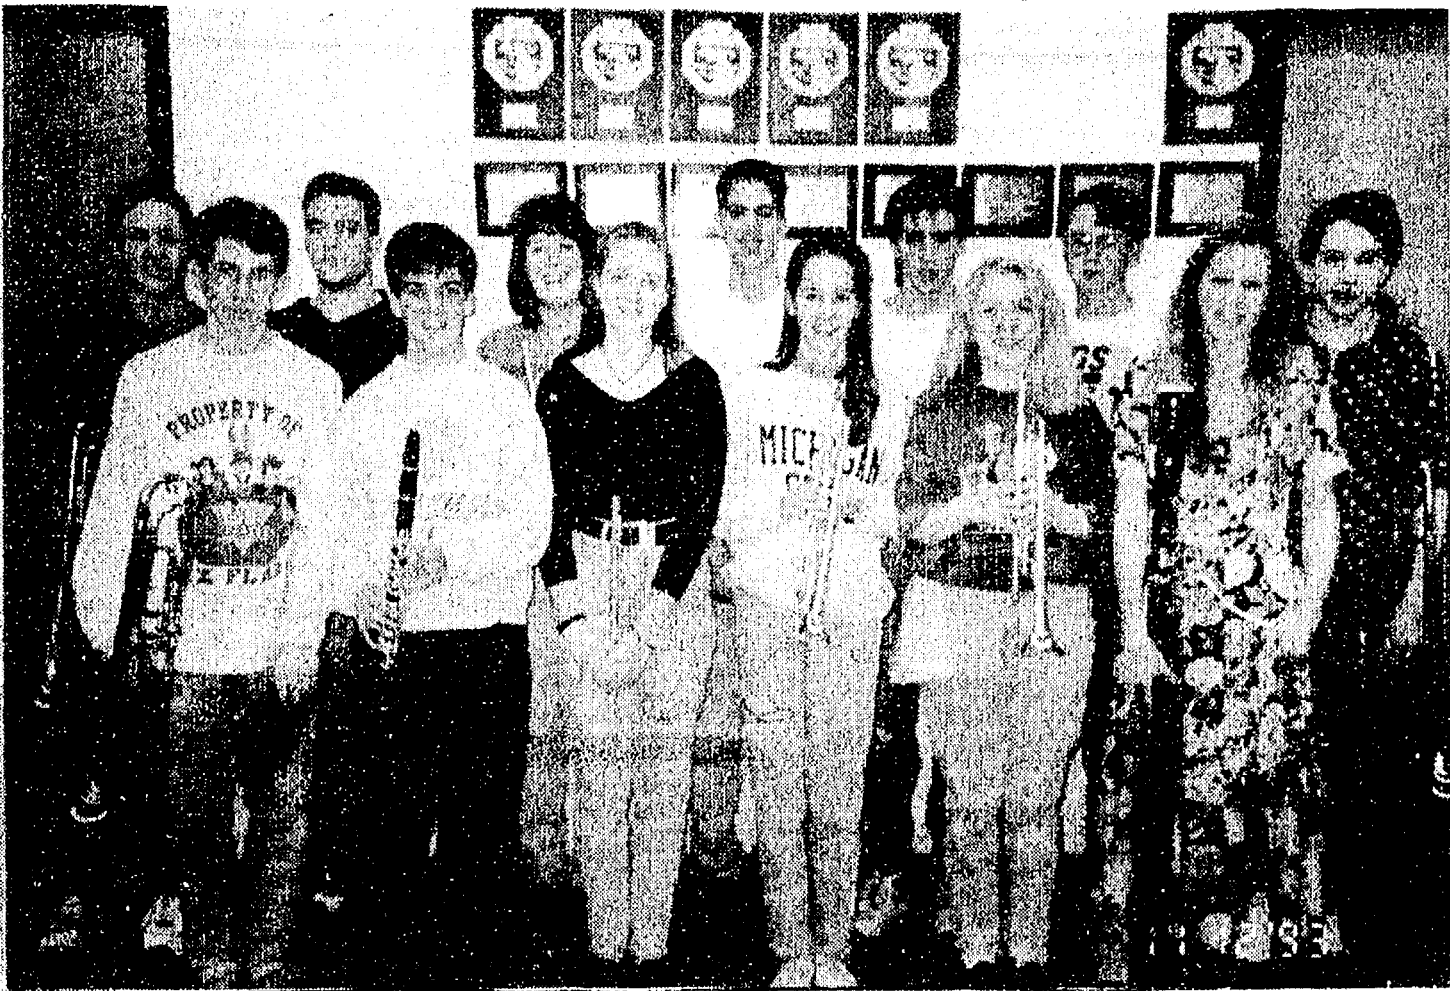

Bobenmoyer and Radzwion acted as lighting technicians and Dan Chozick and Debbie Chozick designed the make-up.

For the performances, Lewis was attired in a tuxedo furnished by J.C. Penney.

Assisting with the production were R. J. Hannan, Joel Raddatz, Dave Shepherd, Northern Litho Printing, Sylvester's, Crawford County Avalanche, WGRY True Country 101, 106.7 The Peak, David Glicker, Dan Chozick and Debbie Chozick.

CONFRONTATION WITH THE TEACHER--New English teacher Sylvia Barrett, played by freshman Mary Wakeley, meets class rebel Joe Ferone (junior Mike Amman) in a scene from Up The Down Staircase. After Barrett stands tough on Joe's side against Vice Principal J. J. McHabe (played by junior Eric Shepherd), he decides to get rid of his ever-present toothpick and stay in school for the rest of the year. 13 G.H.S. students selected for District II Honors Band

By Nancy Lemmen

Thirteen members of the 1993 District II Honors Band — nearly 20 percent — will come from the ranks of the Grayling High School Band.

Of the 21 GHS students who auditioned on November 8, 13 qualified for the prestigious group, including two who earned first chair positions.

Freshman A. J. Stancil heads the clarinet section and senior Melissa Wakeley won the number one spot in the trumpet section.

Other honors band members include freshman Pat Lamie, clarinet; seniors Rene Akers and Melanie Ross, flute; junior Betsy Dean, trumpet; junior Nat Rosi, sophomore Tim Febey and freshman Andy Hunter, trombone; junior Travis Patrick, baritone; sophomore Trish Ormsbee, bassoon; sophomore Jake Beckwith, tuba; and junior Brian Dunckley, percussion.

District II of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (M.S.B.O.A.) includes high schools throughout the northern part of the Lower Peninsula from Rogers City to Frankfort — about 20 schools, said GHS band director Dennis Ormsbee.

The honors band will perform its Silver Anniversary Concert on Sunday, December 5, at the Petoskey Middle School Auditorium at 3 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Raymond Roth, retired director of bands at University of Michigan-Flint.

The band has its first rehearsal on Sunday, November 21, in Mancelona. The members will gather again on Saturday-Sunday, December 4-5, at Petoskey, for one and a half days of rehearsal, followed by their final run-through at 12:30 p.m.

Last year, Grayling qualified 14 of its 22 students who auditioned for the honors band.

The Blowing Snow

The blowing snow.

The cold winters never change.

You can make snowmans.

You can throw snow balls.

But when you go outside you'll freeze your little toes.

The blowing snow.

The hot coco.

The baked cookies.

Grandma dancing in the air.

Grandpa giving her a great big glare.

The blowing snow

You can hear the wind blowing.

But nothing in sight

Something is the sky a little bright.

All of a sudden a great big pour of light.

GHS yearbooks can be picked up

The 1993 Grayling High School SAGA yearbook, "Bursting at the Seams," is back from the plant and can be picked up by graduates.

See Nancy Lemmen, SAGA adviser, in Room 13 before or after school hours to pick up a copy of the '93 yearbook.

There are a few extra copies of the SAGA still available for $32. Stop by Room 13 or call the high school at 348-7641 to reserve one.

The 1994 SAGA staff is still collecting senior pictures until Wednesday, November 24.

Any seniors who have not had photos taken yet should make their appointments with a photography studio as soon as possible, so their pictures arrive in time to make the yearbook deadline.

G.H.S. counseling office hosts workshop for juniors and parents

The Grayling High School Counseling Office will be hosting a workshop for all juniors and their parents on Tuesday, November 23 at 7 p.m. in the high school media center.

The workshop will provide students and parents with information on preparing them for college. Topics will include college planning, ACT test preparation, college selection strategies and financial aid. "This program will provide students and parents with valuable information on preparing for this important decision and I hope students and parents will take time to attend this workshop," responded Bill Klinger, high school counselor.

Viking girls' win one, lose two enroute to tournament

By Terry Wright

The Grayling High School girls' varsity basketball team closed out their regular season last week with three gruelling games enroute to class-B district tournament action this week in Sault Ste. Marie.

Last Tuesday, the Vikings avenged an earlier 24 point loss at Charlevoix by handing the visiting Red Rayders a 50-29 beating. Viking Coach Tom Mills said of the game, "We played excellent defense. That's why we were able to win."

Charlevoix scored the first basket of the game, which proved to be their only lead, as the Vikings, playing their typical scrappy defense converting turnovers into points, took an early and commanding lead and never looked back.

Sophomore Brooke Blaauw led the Viking scorers with 12 points while senior Mandeel Micek added 11.

On Friday, the Vikings hosted the Rogers City Hurons at the annual GHS parent's night celebration. Prior to the game, the Viking moms and dads were introduced and recognized for their very important support of the Viking effort.

From the first tipoff the Vikings controlled the game in what looked to be another easy victory. At halftime the Vikings led the Hurons by 11.

In the second half, however, the intensity which gave them their lead vanished and Rogers City pulled back into the game. "We got rattled the second half," Mills said. The final score gave Rogers City the victory by a 48-44 margin.

With the loss, the Vikings also lost out on second place in the conference standings.

Mandeel Micek again hit for double figures with 12 points.

The next evening, the girls travelled to Petoskey for the final game of the regular season. The Vikings were tired from the three game week and the Petoskey squad had fire in their eyes.

The Vikings trailed by only three at the end of the first quarter but Petoskey took over in the second. The final score had the Petoskey girls doubling up on the Vikes by a score of 62-31.

"We didn't accomplish what we wanted to do," Mills said. "We were hoping to go into the districts with the momentum of three straight victories."

Micek again led the Viking scorers with 11 points. Sophomore Amy Neal added ten. Micek's consistent play for the week gained her "Viking of the Week," honors.

The Vikings played a tough Sault Ste. Marie team on their home floor on Tuesday of this week, in one of northern Michigan's toughest class-B districts. Besides Grayling and the Soo, Petoskey, Gaylord, and Cheboygan are also in the district. If the Vikings beat the Soo, they will play Cheboygan on Thursday. The winner of that game will play in the finals on Friday against the winner of the Petoskey/Gaylord winner.

"This is a very tough district," Mills said. "Anybody can win, including us, but we'll have to play at our very best."

Mills added, "We're at a disadvantage because we have to travel so far. That's a big home court advantage for the Soo."

Motorists should be alert to deer moving in autumn months

Along with the beauty of falling leaves, Michigan roadsides are noted for an abundance of deer in autumn. That means an increased risk of vehicle-deer crashes now through the end of the year, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin reminded motorists today.

Although the deer herd is declining to about 1.5 million animals, Michigan had a record 48,233 deer-related vehicle crashes in 1991, the last year for which Michigan State Police statistics are complete. Statewide, five motorists died in deer-related crashes in 1992.

"We know that more than one-half of all vehicle-deer crashes occur in just these three months: October, November and December. So we are reminding drivers to be alert for deer," said Secretary Austin, the state's chief motor vehicle administrator. "We advise motorists to remain in their lane and stay on the road if they spot a deer. Leaving the roadway makes rolling the vehicle or colliding with trees and other inanimate objects much more likely."

Colliding head-on with a deer is generally less dangerous than swerving to avoid one, provided all vehicle occupants are using safety belts and child safety seats, Secretary Austin concluded.

Secretary Austin provided these tips for safe autumn driving:

•If you see a deer crossing sign, be extra cautious; perhaps due to woods, crops or water, deer are known to frequent this area.

•Statistics indicate vehicle-deer crashes are most frequent between 5 and 8 p.m. During these dusk-to-twilight hours, turn on your headlights to better spot deer.

•Slow down where crops, woods or other tall vegetation grow close to the road.

•Slow down but do not leave your traffic lane or the roadway if you see a deer. Always look for a second or third deer following the first, as deer often travel in small groups.

•Scan the roadside some distance ahead as you drive. You can often spot dark figures or glinting eyes and slow down early, to avoid a surprise encounter with deer.

Although motorists may encounter deer any month, the risk will be greatly reduced when the deer breeding season ends in late December. If a vehicle-deer crash occurs, the motorist should report it to the nearest police agency. If damage appears to exceed $400, the crash must be reported to police under Michigan law. A police agency may issue a Highway Killed Deer Permit allowing the driver to claim a deer carcass or donate it to a needy family or charity.

Mercy Hospital Lights of Love ceremony set for December 10

The Christmas "Lights of Love," sponsored by Mercy Hospital Auxiliary, is a thoughtful way to honor a loved one. Contributions made to the Lights of Love will be directed toward the new automatic front doors and canopy.

A $5 minimum contribution in honor of a loved one will illuminate one of the bulbs on the Christmas Lights of Love tree. Donors giving $25 to $99 will be recognized as silver donors and contributors giving $100 or more will be honored as golden donors.

The Mercy Hospital Auxiliary will send an acknowledgement card, on your behalf, to the family of a person memorialized. In addition, the name of each honored person will appear in the lobby of Mercy Hospital throughout the holiday season.

The tree lighting ceremony will be held in front of Mercy Hospital, Friday, December 10 at 5:30 p.m. The Elementary School Choir will sing Christmas carols and the hand bell ringers from Michelson Memorial Church, under the direction of Marianne LeVigne, will perform. Cookies and hot chocolate will be available as the sounds of the holiday season are celebrated.

Northern Michigan senators co-sponsor amendments to school aid bill

Three northern Michigan senators joined forces in sponsoring amendments to the school aid bill that will, among other things, increase the proposed base grant for every public school student to $4,800.

Sponsored by Senators George McManus (R-Traverse City), John D. Pridnia (R-Hubbard Lake) and Don Koivisto (D-Ironwood), one amendment to Senate Bill 887 will increase the foundation grant from the formerly proposed $4,500 per student to $4,800 per student. For a school with a student population of 1,000, this would translate into an additional $300,000 in its budget.

Another amendment would allow all school districts to receive the entire $4,800 foundation grant in the 1994-95 school year. Prior to the adoption of this amendment, school districts who, for example, were starting at a base grant of $3,800 would have their per student base grant increased by ten percent each school year until they reached $4,800.

With these amendments in place,

111 of the 121 school districts in 38 counties in northern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula will benefit.

Pridnia said closing the gap between richer and poorer districts is essential to a successful educational system. "My commitment to northern Michigan is to see every school child enjoy the full benefit of state financial support, thereby eliminating the disparity that exists today between in- and out-of-formula school districts and rich and poor districts. Not only does this legislation do that, but for the most part, it brings more dollars to northern Michigan schools than ever before."

All three senators said that ensuring the foundation grant increase is in place next school year was a major gain. "The less time these kids have to wait for an equal shot, the better," McManus said.

McManus, Pridnia, and Koivisto unified to demonstrate their strong commitment to the interests of students and residents of northern Michigan.

Where Does Your Money Go?

Down State.

J.B. Rainless saves up all year to go down state for the weekend to do his Christmas shopping.

The $1,000 that he has saved up will pay for the hotel room for him and his wife, their meals, maybe a movie, and all the Christmas gifts they could find at the malls and specialty stores.

The money they saved all year also is going to pay the wages of all those motel managers, restaurant help, the girl who sold the expensive popcorn at the cinemaplex, and all those people who work in all those malls down state. . . and pay their taxes!

Upon returning, Mrs. Rainless found that only three quarters of what was saved for Christmas shopping actually went into gifts. The rest went into gas, food, lodging and entertainment. But they still didn't get everything on their lists!

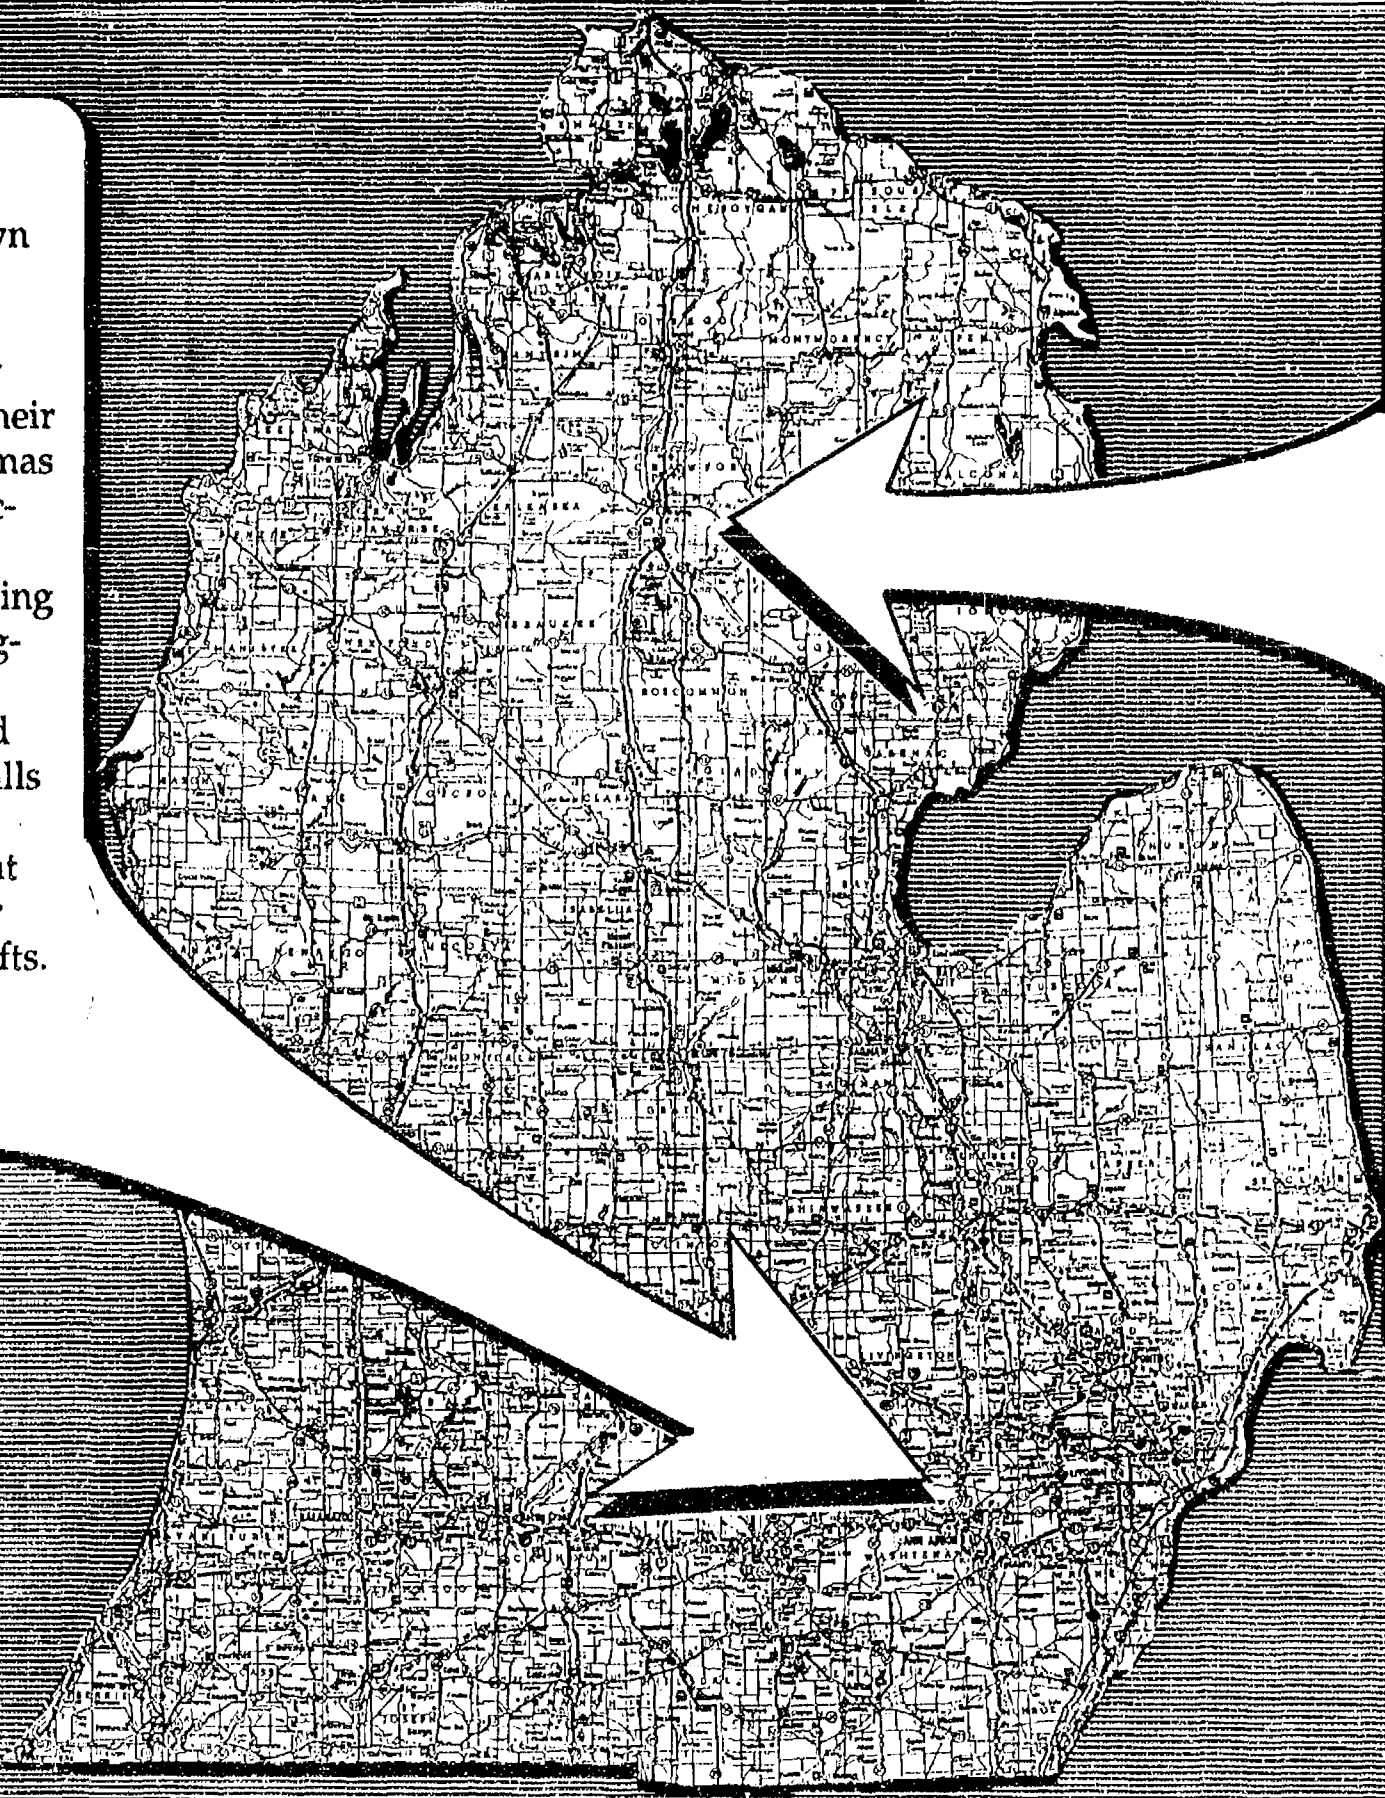

At Home, in Grayling!

Suzie S. Mart saved up all year for Christmas shopping.

With the $1,000 that she saved up, she began to hit the local stores. Though her list was long, she found that most of what she wanted could be found without leaving Crawford County. Some items that couldn't be found usually could be ordered and delivered within a few days. She even found some items that, because of their local nature, she could never have found down state.

Because she shopped locally, she didn't have to worry about planning her shopping, because most stores are always open, and some even have special sales with special hours.

That $1,000 that Ms. Mart saved all year also stayed in the community. By spending it locally, she allows her money to be recycled seven to ten times within the community as businesses pay wages, workers buy groceries, gasoline, and Christmas gifts. Businesses again pay wages . . . and the cycle continues, locally!

These businesses feel that buying locally can make our community stronger!

VERSE OR WORSE

By Joe Murphy

The Deadeyes

Now old Ed and Jack were mighty hunters
They had been hunting partners for forty years
Every year they headed north to go hunting
Determined that they were going to get some of those deers

Some years they did some years they didn't
Still they were not rich in luck
For they ran a pretty low average
When it came to bagging a buck

Over all those years they had killed only seven Jack had killed five, Ed only two
Still they both did a lot of bragging
The way most hunters tend to do

Every year those shots they made got longer
And standing deer began to run
They could keep the boys in the bar entertained for hours
Telling of that great shooting they had done

Jack's five bucks became twenty or thirty
Ed's two a dozen or more
For they came up with a new story of the bucks they'd killed
Every time they came through the bar room door

The local boys planned a big deer drive
So they invited Ed and Jack
With great shots like that on the stands
They would kill bucks at each rifle's crack

As the boys drove they heard a lot of shooting
From those deadly guns of Jack and Ed
The way those guys were pouring them out
They figured a lot of bucks were dead

When at last the drive was over
The boys were smiling when they came out
The way Jack and Ed had been shooting
They had killed a lot of bucks no doubt

Then they saw Jack and Ed just standing there
With a real sheepish look on their face
Jack said Ed missed the first buck that came out
And we shot all the rest in the same place

HOUND NEEDS A HOME--This male walker hound is approximately one year old and really needs a good home. You can see him and other potential pets by stopping by the Animal Shelter of Crawford County, or give them a call at 348-4117.

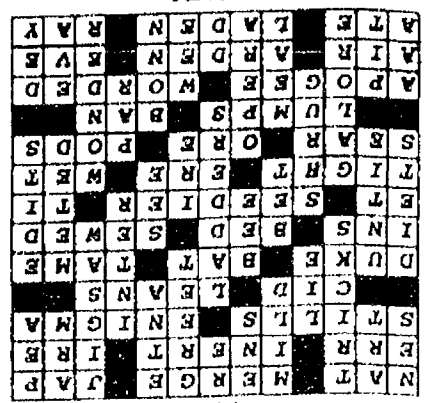

PET CARE TIPS

HAZARDS TO PETS IN YOUR HOME include cleaning compounds and other household chemicals, says the National Humane Education Society. Detergents and bleaches, floor cleaners and waxes, oven cleaners, furniture and carpet cleaners, toilet disinfectants and other liquid chemicals pose hazards to pets if not carefully handled and stored. Keep caps and lids on these containers firmly tightened and keep the rags used to apply the compounds out of your pet's reach.

The Bible Speaks

From The
Calvary Baptist Church

Thou shalt not kill

Liberal humanists befuddle the sixth commandment. Burning their draft cards and picketing nuclear weapon sites, they once condemned our "killing" war against godless communism. They defend the life of criminals from state execution. Liberal activists fight furiously to defend even the fur, flesh, and freedom of animals. But, they show a strange twist in their logic while gathering support for an abortion mill or defending Dr. Kevorkian. They support abortion, suicide, and euthanasia which kill the human lives of those who are defenseless, depressed, despondent, desolate, diseased, and disabled. They hypocritically try to hide their sin and shame under the cover of human dignity and rights.

"Thou shalt not kill," is God's moral law commanding respect for all human life. It is restated in Exodus 10:13; 21:14, Leviticus 24:21, Numbers 35:9-34, Deuteronomy 5:17, Matthew 19:18, Romans 13:9, and James 2:11. The word "kill" in the Hebrew is "ratsach" which means to murder. This Hebrew meaning is clear from Matthew 19:18, "... Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder..."

Jesus said, "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou Fool, shall be in danger of hell fire." (Matthew 5:21, 22).

Jesus expanded murder from the act of violence to the lust of anger and hatred expressed within the heart. (Matthew 15:19 and Mark 7:21). He called the devil the father of murder. (John 8:44, 1 John 3:12). To say "Raca" was to call one worthless, empty or vain. The word "fool" in Greek is "moros" from which we get our English word moron. To call one a fool was to call him dull, stupid, absurd, or a blockhead. God judges murder as the violent anger we feel and hatred we speak as well as the act of killing. God instituted human government upon the divine right of capital punishment to control such violence and murder. "And surely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of man; at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man." (Genesis 9:5,6). Animals are not murdered because they are not made in the image of God. All human life is sacred only because it was created in God's image. Our forefathers called life an "inalienable" or God-given right. True human dignity and rights come from God, not human government.

Linda DeMarchis, M.A., Health Educator

This column is presented as a public service to the community by District Health Department No. 1 which serves, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, and Crawford counties. Question: Do you have any suggestions to poison-proof a home where there are young children?

Answer: This is a good question since every year thousands of children suffer needlessly from ingesting poisonous substances. Also, many die because of hazardous household products. Most poisonings can be avoided if you plan ahead and take precautions to poison-proof your home. Here are a few suggestions from the Western Michigan Poison Control Center:

- Keep all medicines and hazardous products locked up. Lock medicine cabinets and garage storage cabinets.

- Do not keep poisons under the kitchen sink.

- Call medicine by its name, not candy, which often can lead to accidental overdose.

- Do not store medicines and cleaning supplies in the same cupboard. You could make a serious mistake.

- Once an illness is over, dispose of drugs used to treat the illness down the toilet.

- When using cleaning supplies, don't leave them unattended while answering the phone. Take them with you.

- Do not store hazardous substances in pop bottles or unlabeled containers.

- Use cleaning supplies in well ventilated areas and do not mix them together.

- Know names of plants inside and around your home.

- Keep Syrup of Ipecac in your medicine cabinet and post the phone number for the poison control center near the phone — just in case.

THE PRICE OF "FREE" WILL

You might say that "the price of free will" is a contradiction in terms...but is it?

Slowly, then increasingly faster, this gleaming, blurring jet-propelled bird skims the runway, until, with a shriek, and then a roar, it thrusts skyward, able to transport us anywhere in the world within hours. Enmeshed in the magic of the moment, some might feel drawn to follow an impulse, buy a ticket and "leave our cares behind". It is possible, you know. Plastic credit is easy enough to obtain, as most of us realize. Yet, if we use our free will inappropriately, we still pay the price.

Truly, God Himself gave us free will...and the ability to discern what is practical from what is possible. By worshipping God and meditating upon His Word, God will show us the way. Follow His will. Your destination is sure...and God has paid the price.

BITS OF TALK

by Fay Bovee

Aileen Pond was the guest of honor on Saturday evening, November 10, when her family gathered for a birthday dinner at the Mesquite Creek Steak House in Clarkston. There were 15 family members present and Aileen had a wonderful time. Aileen also visited her family in Bay City for the

R.S.V.P. eligibility requirement is 55

The newly passed National and Community Service Trust Act will have an effect on R.S.V.P. Under the new act, which went into effect October
1, 1993, the Older American Volunteer Programs will be renamed the National Senior Volunteer Corps. The Retired
Senior Volunteer Program will be the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program.

The act also changed the eligibility for participation in the R.S.V.P. program from age 60 to 55. This is the rationale for the name change to Retired and Senior.

If you have friends who have been waiting to be old enough to join R.S.V.P., they are now eligible if they are age 55 or older.

R.S.V.P. is a non-profit organization designed to coordinate individuals with fulfilling volunteer service within the community.

Volunteers do not fill the place of any job that would ordinarily be a paid position.

There are a variety of activities available. For more information call the R.S.V.P. office today at 348-4341.

OLD 27 NORTH GRAYLING

Christmas Walk 1993

A Continuing Grayling Holiday Tradition

The Christmas Walk in Grayling began with the effort of one business, Flower's By Josie, nearly ten years ago. Earnest Dawson wished to offer his customers a special day of festive entertainment. Something beyond the pressures of gift buying and the normal rush of the season. It was to be an afternoon of relaxed fun. A time to remember what gift-giving is really meant to be, rather than the tension of "have-to-buy-now" department store atmosphere. The store was decorated, the lights turned low, live music could be heard playing softly.

Winter is an enchanting time in northern Michigan. The freshly falling snow clinging to the branches of the cedar trees, a blue jay fluffing its feathers against the cold, a quiet walk where nothing is heard except the crunching sound of your own feet. It is a time of resting and reflecting on life's good. Isn't it significant that Christmas comes during this magical season? It seems appropriate that as we are able to slow life's pace, it is the season to celebrate the privilege of gift giving.

Grayling is an enchanting place in northern Michigan. A small town that lives life just a bit slower than some. A community of caring people who will take time for a mid-day coffee break or a street corner conversation with an old friend or a new acquaintance.

THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS WALK is a special event in Grayling. It is time to greet customers with a little extra something; a conversation without the overtone of needing to sell; a little something sweet and a refreshing drink to wash it down.

Whether you choose to walk from business to business during the CHRISTMAS WALK or choose to ride the TROLLEY, you are easily caught up in the enchantment of feeling special.

When the GPA choir visits each business, you may join in the fun of caroling, or simply relax and listen. Either way it is a fitting tribute to an event that captures the entire community.

From hand made dolls to fly-tying, from watercolor to china painting, the hand of the artist is a very prominent part of this event.

The CHRISTMAS WALK is the sound of music. In one business it may be a harp, or the hammered dulcimer, folk music or the piano. The atmosphere is joyous and refreshing.

Sunday afternoon, November 21, at 5 pm, at the Rialto Theater will be the first annual community Christmas Event. Music, choirs, dance, and storytelling will combine into an experience that will deepen your appreciation for this truly wonderful celebration of giving called Christmas.
